Ph.D in
TRANSFORMATIONAL DEVELOPMENT
Transforming the Society with God's love

"Transformational Development seeks to catalyze action among local churches, NGOs and systems in complex societies within Asia and beyond, working with all known resources (especially and including the identified poor), to improve the quality of life and to transform society's structures and institutions in order to demonstrate God's love to all."

“ We seek an international blend of participants, practitioners and leaders who show extraordinary promise in leading their communities in transformational development consistent with Christian insight and practice. We offer an outstanding mix of international scholars, open dialogue, theory meshed into practice, solid research, campus community and partnerships, comparable to any program of its kind anywhere in the world at a cost (currently under $6,000 for the three year program) accessible to students around the world.

- Dr. Fletcher Tink
